Dr. Alfred Johnson, Director of the Office of Research Services (ORS) welcomed all the Board members and guests. Dr. Johnson spoke of the positive efforts of the Board and thanked them for those efforts. He spoke of the scrutiny of all public programs and shared that he will be conducting a review of all ORS programs in order to assure their continued value to the NIH. Dr. Johnson will be asking the NIH Child Care Team to review all current services and present evidence of positive impact using data and documentation.

Dr. Johnson asked the Board to assist in these comprehensive efforts to analyze services and make recommendations regarding their importance. Board ideas and input will make the already terrific programs even better.

Dr. Johnson also updated the Board on the construction delay at the Northwest Child Care Center and assured the Board that ORS and Office of Research Facilities were committed to this center and will make sure the Board is given regular updates.

There was discussion regarding budget impacts on the NIH Child Care Program, and Dr. Johnson pointed out that current programs had never been reduced due to their importance and the excellent evidence of that fact by the Board and DATS staff. Data and evidence, qualitative and quantitative, is key.

The event was a huge success with over 200 participants. A unique and very graphic technique was used to gather data from the participants: “consensograms.” This concept was the idea of Reaya Reuss and the committee was able to gather some interesting data which will be presented at the October Board meeting. Board Members of the Dependent Care Committee were: Reaya Reuss, Julie Berko, Eva Chen, Brian Rabin, Erin Williams and Health and Wellness Council members were: Jane Jacobs, Jamie Goldsby, Angela Bates, and Chris Gaines.
